

Hanne Tyrmi

Born in Norway 1954

Hanne Tyrmi has been active on the national and international art scene since the 1980s. She mainly works with sculpture in combination with film, photography, text and sound. Tyrmi's work revolves around the relationship between individual and society, gender and identity. Her expression thematizes a broad register of humanistic perspectives that range from the existentially vulnerable to a critique of gender role patterns and positions of power in society. These themes are shaped through a revitalization of sculptural techniques that show a sensitive material handling.
